Subject: WSA planning presentations

In talking with Wolf a little bit ago, it seemed to become clear that a very important part of the consideration of existing or proposed projects for our program is the GOAL of the project. Since the purpose of the meeting is to make sure the program is going in the right direction, we are not going to be critiquing the study designs, and it is not enough to say that a piece of work is in the correct area of science. Rather, we will more be concerned about the study goals and how those fit into, and are likely to successfully move forward, our programmatic direction.

Therefore, in your presentations, you should be sure to include and give appropriate emphasis to the goals of existing or proposed work.

thanks
